What happens after you submit the FAFSA?

- The FAFSA will be submitted for processing once all contributors have completed their sections.
- Once Federal Student Aid processes your FAFSA, which is scheduled to begin in March:
 - The student will receive a FAFSA Submission Summary (FSS), which includes an eligibility overview, a summary of all FAFSA answers, and next steps.
 - Colleges and the student's state of residence will receive the data electronically.
 - Families will be able to make corrections to the data.
- Colleges may request additional documentation or information from families through a process called verification.
